WOMEN PILOTS IN MOTOR BOAT RACE

A clash between fast motor boats, with women as pilots, was another pre-race feature at Balboa yesterday afternoon.

The Shogun, piloted by Mrs. Adair, Worcester, carried off first honors, while the Tai-tun, with Miss Virginia Leffingwell at the wheel came in a close second.

Mrs. Winifred Young brought in the Fay in third place.

All available nocks and crannies on the bay shore were filled with boating fans as the three speeding craft flashed over the course. The race ended in front of the Balboa pavilion.

UNKNOWN ORIENTAL CAUSED OWN DEATH

His death officially designated as a case of suicide but his identity still a mystery, an unknown Chinese whose body was discovered near Sunset Beach, with a bullet hole through the head, was still an enigma to the authorities today.

Coroner Charles D. Brown conducted an inquest yesterday noon at the C. S. Bundschuh undertaking parlors in Huntington Beach, the jury finding that death was due to suicide.

Following a clue provided at the inquest, Bundschuh went to Los Angeles today to secure information, if possible, concerning the dead man. The trail led that way, when Mr. and Mrs. Clark, residents of Huntington Beach, testified at the inquest that they had observed the Chinese going to a Pacific Electric car in Los Angeles at 4:14 p. m. on the day his body was found. They saw the man leave the car at Sunset Beach, they said. At dusk his body was found near the edge of the water.

ESOP'S Fables

THE TIGER AND THE DONKEY

A tiger—or so runs the tale—
Held up and robbed the jungle mail;
A donkey on the mail-coach team
Aided the tiger's wicked scheme.
When caught the donkey brayed,
"Oh oh,
I ain't do nothin', lemme go!"
His captor said, "If innocent
You'd shun this crooked tiger gent;
The moral is—you're stung, me lad,
Because your company was bad!"

NEWS BRIEFS

The premium committee of the Orange county fair was at work here today preparing the premium list for the exhibition to be held in Santa Ana September 27 to 30. Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg, Secretary R. D. Flaherty, Secretary Malcolm A. Fraser of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce and Murray Horne conferred at the farm bureau office. Last year's premium lists were being consulted and plans were being made for new prizes. The work will probably be completed next Friday, when the list will be announced. The prizes offered will be more attractive than previously, the committee stated.

A permit to erect a $5,500 residence at 1003 Spurgeon street, issued this morning to Andrew Hansler, 305 East Tenth street, brought the construction total for the first seventeen days of July to $147,170. Since January 1 City Building Inspector W. S. Decker has issued permits for building at an estimated cost of $2,012,360, the records show.

T. W. Olesby, paving contractor on Flower street, from Fourth street south to Fairview avenue, today started laying the top surface on that street. Work was started at Camille street. At the same time Olesby started to prepare Camille street for paving west from Flower to Baker. This is to be six-inch concrete with belt finish.

Steele Finley, who has been engaged in paving streets in new subdivisions on Orange avenue, has completed the paving on Wisteria Place, finishing all the work in the subdivision on Orange.

G. W. Knox, city engineer of Santa Ana, and O. E. Steward, city engineer and city manager of Anaheim, have been compelled to change their plans for departing tomorrow for St. Louis, Mo., where they are going to investigate the service rendered by vitrified sewer pipe made under the Ferguson specifications. They were unable to get train reservations for tomorrow and will not leave until Thursday. They will depart from Los Angeles at 10 a. m.

Folded postcards printed by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for distribution in advertising the Santa Ana Auto park camp will require two-cent stamps where messages are written on the card, according to information given to J. C. Metzger, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, today by local post office officials. Where there is no writing a one-cent stamp will be sufficient, Metzger was advised. The postoffice department at Washington has been requested for an interpretation of the law governing the carrying of double postcards.

The city council will meet tonight at the council chambers.

T. W. Schouboe of Los Angeles today at Huntington Beach took up his duties as director of an educational campaign decided upon by the club recently organized by the interests of raising oil drilling restrictions in the residential district of the beach city, according to word received here today. Schouboe will continue the work until the campaign is completed on election day, August 21.

Among Santa Ana furniture dealers attending the Furniture Market being conducted this week in San Francisco, where nine floors of a mammoth building are devoted to the wholesale display of the latest in home furnishings, are George Hawkins, manager of the J. C. Horton Furniture company, and W. H. Spurgeon of the company bearing his name. R. P. Preston of the Preston Furniture company will leave tomorrow afternoon for the bay city. Ray Chandler of Ira Chandler and Son plans to leave Wednesday. The day of merely selling furniture has passed, the dealers declare, pointing out that buyers nowadays require expert services in carrying out home furnishing plans.

Yesterday's baseball game at Huntington Beach between the Economy Market team and that of the West Coast Oil company, resulted in a score of 8 to 7 for the West Coasters. The game was played before a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Local bicycle dealers were interested today in the record-breaking run from New York City by Clarence Wagner, 23, who crossed the continent on his bicycle in 28 days, 4 hours and 15 minutes. The former record was more than 30 days. Wagner arrived in Los Angeles last Thursday afternoon. Among those who commented on the journey was Henry Beisser, proprietor of Henry's Cycle Shop.

QUIZ 14 HERE ON PLEAS FOR CITIZENSHIP

Fourteen aliens seeking to become American citizens were members of a naturalization class which was being examined today by Judge K. S. Mahon in department 1 of the superior court.

Two members of the class, Sebastian Rothenfluth and Peter Ailland, were hold-overs from a previous class, their cases having been continued for various reasons. Both were German citizens. The remaining twelve were making their first appearance in the examination for final papers of citizenship. Among the number was one nun, Agnes Schrieber, of Anaheim, a native of Germany. German subjects led in numbers among the class, six such being included.

The list of applicants in addition to those already mentioned follows:

Dominic Gnoepf, Swiss confederation, George Marshall Allen, Great Britain and Ireland, William Dyke, Great Britain and Ireland, Amanda J. Anderson, Sweden, Emil Stoffel, Germany, Benjamin Eyre, England, Joe Koral, Czechoslovak republic, John Spykerman, Netherlands, Francisca Faltermeier, Germany, Josef Kelleher, Germany, and John Erik Anderson, Sweden.

MOTOR BOAT DASH TO ISLE PLANNED

Leaving Balboa next Saturday night at 7 o'clock for a race around Catalina island and back, the Newport Harbor Yacht club motor boat owners will compete for the George Wibel cup, it was announced today.

This is to be a handicap race in which each man's handicap will consist of the difference between the time he estimates will be needed for the trip, before the race begins, and actual time it takes him to complete the trip.

There will be an official on board each boat to check up on the time. The race will begin in Balboa bay and the course will follow a direct route to Catalina island, around the island and back to Balboa.

Twenty-five cups have to date been offered as prizes to be awarded during the forthcoming regatta, the regatta committee announced following a meeting yesterday at the Newport Harbor Yacht clubhouse. The committee voted to offer twenty silver medals and twenty bronze medals. R. Clarkson Coleman, Laguna Beach artist, has offered a painting and it is said that his brother, George Coleman, also an artist, will offer a picture as well.

The committee announced that Laguna artists will hold an exhibition at the Yacht clubhouse during regatta week.

LUTZ HOST TO JURY FOLK ON SEA CRUISE

Members of the superior court jury panel and their families, together with several guests, were today still enjoying reflections over a pleasant sea cruise which they took Saturday as guests of William F. Lutz, a member of the panel.

The boat was chartered at Balboa and carried the party on an afternoon's ride to a point below Laguna Beach. Fishing added much to the trip's enjoyment, but it was confessed, detracted nothing from the funny population.

Besides the jurors and their families, the party included E. R. Abbey, court clerk; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross.

GIRL DEATH AVIATOR NOT YET IN CUSTODY

With Peyton Gibson, Pasadena aviator, who is charged with manslaughter, still at large, so far as the local authorities were advised, officials were marking time today in the prosecution of charges that grew out of a fatal accident at Huntington Beach, July 9.

A warrant was issued late Friday by Justice C. W. Warner of Huntington Beach, authorizing the arrest of Gibson, who was operating an airplane that struck Miss Anna Felchlin, of Alhambra, while Gibson was making a landing on the beach. Miss Felchlin died from her injuries.

City Marshal Jack Tinsley, of Huntington Beach, had not located Gibson today, so far as could be learned.

Virtually every local dentist closed his office here and journeyed to Los Angeles to attend the opening session of the National Dental association's convention. As a part of their contribution to the entertainment, county dentists were to serve orange juice during the first three days of the convention, which will conclude next Saturday.

Funeral services for W. B. Park Jr., shoe salesman at the R. C. Peterson shoe store, who died at his home at Orange Saturday afternoon of pneumonia, will probably be held Friday afternoon of this week at the Smith and Tuthill chapel, this city. A brother, Eugene Park, departed from Philadelphia yesterday and is expected to reach here Thursday.

MARKETS

WALL ST. JOURNAL

FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, July 17.—Operations on the stock exchange were more noteworthy for the character of the stocks which were featured than for the volume of trading.

Although no sensational accumulations were recorded, the steady accumulation of stocks of this class was unmistakable.

The railroad average achieving a new high on Saturday's close and the industrial average almost within a point of the combined judgment of the financial community was predicted an early settlement of labor complexities.

No matter what delays occur in the settlement of the coal and rail strikes, it is becoming increasingly evident that the market is not to be discouraged by surface currents such as labor unrest.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices:

U. S. Steel, 99 5/8, up 1-8; Crucible 72 1/2, up 1-4; American Locomotive 116 1-8, up 3-8; Mexican Petroleum 159 1-2, up 1-4; Texas company 46; Cossden 43 3/4, off 1-8; Asphalt 58 5-8; Studebaker 137; General Motors 14 1-4, off 1-8; American Can 40 1-4, up 1-8; Anaconda 52 1-2; Baltimore and Ohio 52, off 1-4.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 17.—Grain prices were sharply lower at the close of the Chicago Board of Trade today.

Heavy selling by houses with Eastern connections was the principal factor in the decline of wheat, other grains showing some independent strength but dropping in sympathy with wheat.

While no definite cause for selling by the seaboarders could be given among local traders, it was believed that possibility of peace in the rail strike may have induced the heavy selling.

The pressure of local houses followed the easterners and prices were off about 3c on wheat until a rally at the close gained about one cent of the loss. Provisions were lower.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX PLAYING REAL BALL

Kid Gleason Leads Supposed Tail Enders In Race for Pennant

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, July 17.—Old seamed-face Pop Gleason, of the White Sox, never was considered a slough of a manager. He always was good while opportunity was waiting the chance to show him up as a "miracle man."

It took the biggest surprise of baseball—the 1921 scandal, to give the kid a chance to show that he qualified with George Stallings, Pat Moran and Uncle Wilbert Robertson as a producer of something out of nothing.

The White Sox were consigned to the cellar by experts at the start of the season and they remained thereabouts until about six weeks ago, when the pale horse realized that their "old man" wasn't kidding them when he told them they were good.

They're batting for the pennant now, five games out of first place and right on the heels of the faltering New York Yanks. They are up there because the kid patted them along, encouraged his young pitchers and allowed Ray Schalk, Eddie Collins, Harry Hooper and Red Faber to educate the youngsters in smart baseball. Perhaps the Sox will not win the pennant but they will furnish excitement all the way. They are playing the smartest baseball in the big leagues and they are the biggest upset of the year.

GOLFER GETS INTO 'HOLE IN ONE CLUB' BY 212 YD. SHOT

NEWARK, N. J., July 17.—Frank W. French, member of the Forest Hills Field Golf Club, yesterday became a member of the "hole in one club." French's entrance into the select outfit was one of the most spectacular performances ever seen on a golf course. His "hole in one shot" was 212 yards from tee to cup, giving him the honor of acquiring membership in the "hole in one club" through one of the longest shots of the kind ever made.

Here Are Heroes of Yesterday's Games

YESTERDAY'S HERO—Hy Myers, doubled in the seventh and tied the score and tripled in the eighth with the bases full and gave Brooklyn a six to two victory over the pirates.

Homers by Yarran and Hooper helped the White Sox beat the Yanks 4 to 0. Babe Ruth and Walsh Schang were the only Yanks to hit Faber.

Hack Miller hit his fourth homer in three days, but the Phillies knocked Alexander out of the box and beat the Cubs 10 to 7.

The Reds knocked McQuillan and Oeschger out of the box but old Rube Marquard stopped them and the Braves finally won five to four.

The Giants got ten hits off Bill Sherdel, but were shut out, the Cards winning their second straight game of the series, 10 to 0.

Dixie Davis set the Senators down with five scattered hits and the Browns won 2 to 0.

MAKES CASH IN ROPED ARENA TO PAY FOR COLLEGE COURSE

BOB SAGE

Detroit Law Student Aspires to Middleweight Title; Terrific Wallop

Fighting and law do not seem to have much in common, yet Bob Sage of Detroit, Mich., is combining them to excellent advantage.

Bob Sage is a law student at the University of Detroit. He is a mighty good student. In two years he hopes to have his degree.

When not pouring over Blackstone, Bob devotes his time to the roped arena. He aspires some day to be the middleweight champion of the world.

In Detroit, and around the state of Michigan, Sage is perhaps better known as Bob "Kayo" Sage, middleweight contender, the boy with the powerful punch. Sage first attended University of Washington at Seattle. He then moved to Detroit and continued his studies at the University of Detroit.

Not being wealthy, Sage found it necessary to work his way through college. He always liked boxing. Any spare time he has is spent in the gymnasium.

Promoters Hear of Him
Then stories of Sage's boxing prowess reached the promoters. He was offered a chance to show in a preliminary.

At the time Sage had no thought of taking up boxing as a career. The money offered, however, was more than he could make in a month doing odd jobs. Sage won his first professional bout with a knockout and made a big hit. That convinced him that boxing would pay his way through college.

In 11 months of professional fighting he has taken part in 12 bouts, nine of which he has won over the knockout route. His most impressive triumph was a knockout of Pat Walsh, the well-known Cincinnati middleweight.

The classiest opponent he has so far met is Jackie Clarke, A. E. F. champion. All the Detroit papers gave him the decision over Clarke.

Welcomes J. Wilson
Sage is a modest, clean-cut chap of 22 years, who takes the best of care of himself. He radiates confidence and is convinced that he can hold his own with the best of them. He would welcome right now a match with Champion Johnny Wilson.

Sage has been tentatively matched to meet Mike Gibbons in a 15-round bout on Labor Day. If Sage is able to win over Gibbons his reputation will have been made.

SEEK STRAYING HORSES

Search was being made today for a team of black horses, reported to have strayed from the ranch of G. W. Shell, near Orange. The team was traced as far as East Seventeenth street, where the trail was lost. Shell reported his loss to local and county officers.

FAILING EYESIGHT FORCES HERMAN TO QUIT FISTIC GAME

NEW ORLEANS, July 17.—The prize ring has lost another of its famous stars.

Because of failing eyesight, Pete Herman, former world's bantamweight champion, has announced his retirement from the fistic game.

Charity events will not be needed to tide little Pete over his trouble period. The little Italian has put away a lot of the money he won in the prize ring and is "fixed" for the rest of his life.

Within the last year Pete went back considerably as a fighter. His decline started when he lost the title to Joe Lynch, but even at that he continued to earn considerable money and pile it up for the "rainy" day which now seems to have arrived for him.

GOLFERS URGE NEW RULES FOR TOURNEY

CHICAGO, July 17.—Golf experts here today urged changes in the system of staging national tournaments, following the close of the national open championship at Skokie Country club here Saturday.

The starting field which has been consistently growing and this year totaled 329, should be cut down before the opening of the national event, it was urged. Sectional tournaments to cut down the entries were suggested.

The stars who participated in the tournament here last week were unanimous in their praise in the way which the affair was handled by officials of the Skokie Country club.

Gene Sarazen, the new champion, hurried to his home in Pittsburgh, immediately after being presented with the new championship cup.

Bashful and Rare

This clouded tiger, presented to the London Zoo by the Prince of Wales, is one of the rarest animals in the collection—and the most timid. He seldom comes out where the public can see him.

Fortune at Stake in Stamp Suit

Milton Carlson, authority on disputed documents, examines an "Hawaiian Missionary" stamp of two-cent denomination. If genuine, it is worth $20,000. John A. Klemann, New York dealer who says he bought $3 of them, is suing a Los Angeles dealer, alleging the government pronounced them forgeries.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

THE JUDAS TREE

Alot it soared from sandy plain—the towering mount of my desire.

I scorned the level at my feet—
my every impulse urged me higher.

Mine eyes would feast on vivid scenes unrolled before my eager gaze.

Were I to leave the plains serene, and seek to climb the rugged ways.

I toiled and struggled through the day. I climbed and struggled through the night.

And when the sun's first gilded ray illuminated all the mountain height.

I stood and gazed across the plain—that sandy plain my feet had spurned—

At last I stood above the earth on that fair height for which I yearned.

Alas, it was not tall enough!
There yet were sights I might not see!

But ah, there waved upon the crest, the twisted branches of a tree.

Gone were the charms of mountain top, to climb yet climb—was my intent.

And to the spot where grew the tree, my weary footsteps then I bent.

A Judas tree! Oh hateful sight!
No twisted branch without its thorn!

I could not scale its prickly height, my spirits sank in woforism.

No matter what the gracious sights spread far below for-me to see.

I gloried not in mountain heights
—I could not climb the Judas tree!

WE WOULD ALL ENJOY the experience which recently be-told a little New England mother who has adopted California as her state, and to whom many pleasant things are always happening, because she occupies her mind with happiness.

Watering her posies one evening recently, her attention was attracted by a humming bird, fluttering and lingering near the stream from the hose. She at once turned the nozzle until the water came in a fine spray, and the tiny bit of jeweled life began darting and winging through the spray with utter enjoyment and complete disregard for her nearness.

Mrs. D. at once called her daughters to see the lovely sight, and even their presence failed to disturb the humming bird. All three, declare it to have been the prettiest sight they ever saw,
as the bird's opalescent plumage glinted with an unbelievable sheen in the water. Finally concluding its sport, the little creature flew to an overhanging telephone wire and perched there, preening its feathers and making an elaborate toilet after its bath.

What a lovely sight it must have been! How fortunate that it was seen by those who would think to share their experience with others. We have never seen a humming bird at rest, and doubt if there are many in Santa Ana who have had that pleasure.

Gay Fiesta Planned To Add to Building Fund Costa Mesa Woman's Club

Keen interest is being taken by Santa Ana clubwomen in the efforts of their sisters in Costa Mesa to have their own club house —an effort which bids fair to be crowned with success.

In furthering their dream and its working out, the members of the Costa Mesa Woman's club are planning a great community gathering for Friday night, July 21, when the whole countryside is invited to come en masse to the Costa Mesa apple house. The carnival spirit will rule for the evening, and under a capable committee, the plans are rapidly being perfected.

Concessions will line the walls of the apple house, and all manner of games will be in evidence while an excellent orchestra has been engaged so that those who love dancing will have ample inducement to join in the mystic mazes. The whole affair will be staged very much on the order of the fiesta given by Santa Ana Ebell members at the Excelsior Creamery company's garage during the local club season, with entertaining features to appeal to young and old—active and quiet.

Mrs. E. L. Quinn as president of the thriving little club, accepted a generous offer made recently by Mrs. Fanny Bixby Spencer who donated the site for a clubhouse provided work on the building might be under way within three months.
Half the specified time remains and already the energetic members have a neat sum in the bank and with the money they hope to raise from the forthcoming masquerade, they will begin building operations
at once.

Members of the committee putting the affair across are Mrs. H.
B. Woodruff, chairman; Mrs. Sid
Williams, Mrs. E. V. Miner, Mrs.
Clarence Wilkinson, Mrs. A. E.
Block, Mrs. H. Halliday, Mrs. Walter Young and Mrs. E. V. Messing.
The evening's merriment will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

A dash, a laugh, a shriek, a whirl,
The Santa Ana summer girl!

AT THE EASTERN STAR picnic in June, we listened to a number of delightful stories of the canny Scot, an "all wi' the guid suld butt" to them, too Mon, I'm telling' ye. We hope the braw Scotchman who entertained the group that afternoon, reads the Quilt and will enjoy hearing about Andy McTavish and his wife who were interested in the aeronaut and his preparations for flight.

Said Andy, "Hoo much sillier for th' treep?"

"Ten dollars."

"Ten dollars!" Losh! It's tae muckle. I wanna pay it."

"Well, I'll make you a proposition," said the aeronaut. "If you and your wife agree not to speak while we are up, I'll take you up for nothing and give you $10 besides."

"Deed aye, we'll dae it."

The aeronaut took them up, did his worst thrills, tail-spins, loop-the-loops, nose-dives and everything, without a sound from the lips of the passengers.

As they were nearing the stop, after striking the ground, the aeronaut, without looking back,
said:

"You win, old timer. You never said a word."

"May I speak noo?"

"Sure."

"Th' wee wife fell oot!"

Newport Yacht Club Stages One of Season's Most Brilliant Dances

Probably in the Annals of the Newport Harbor Yacht club there have been few more brilliant dances than the one of Saturday night following the afternoon races, while as a precursor of the events of a social nature to accompany the annual regatta, it loomed large in importance.

Preceded by a number of delightfully intimate little dinners, some in the club diningroom, some at private homes or beach cottages, the dance opened with a flourish about 9 o'clock, with the Glenwood Mission Inn orchestra of Riverside offering one of the most delightful programs of music ever heard within the confines of the club.

The decorations arranged under the direction of Mrs. L. G. Swales, assisted by Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs.
W. Starbuck Fenton, Mrs. William C. Warrington, Mrs. Albert Sol-land, Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, Mrs.
Jesse H. Payne and Mrs.
C. Paulson Visel, were particularly striking, swaying grapevines wreathing the walls and suspended from the ceiling, giving the effect of an immense and charming pergola. Fluttering wings of multi-colored tissue paper, like gay butterflies, stood out in bold relief against the greenery, and coupled with the vivid sport costumes of the women guests, made the scene one of pronounced gayety.

Evolving a clever scheme for raising money toward the expense of entertaining during the regatta, the women of the club introduced a number of favor dances, where the favors were purchased by the men and bestowed upon their partners. So popular were the dances that it was only a short time until everyone present was adorned with fancy crepe paper hats and extraneous of Hawaiian lei while the air was filled with the noise of toy balloons and the pop of bursting ones. As a result of the idea, a goodly sum was realized and will be devoted to entertaining women guests who will gather for the regatta.

Another original feature was introduced by Commodore Smith, who raffled off an attractive young lady of Hawaii, in typical Hawaiian costume. The doll was about two feet high and bidding was rapid until she finally brought a sum approaching fifty dollars.
Each bidder paid only the difference between the latest sum bid and his own offer, the difference being limited to fifty cents. The event was another one of the lively scenes of the evening.

Many Los Angeles members were present and among them were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Putnam, Mr. Putnam receiving congratulations from all his friends on the performance of his sloop the "Joy," which carried off Saturday's prize in the sloop race. Mrs. Putnam was lovely in a smart blue linen sport costume.

Among local guests were Mr.
and Mrs. J. C. Metzger and Miss Virginia Metzger, the latter wearing a stunning dark blue sport costume embroidered with white with hat to match and a fox fur;
Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales and their three daughters, the Misses Mignonette, Catherine and Emmeline. Miss Mignonette Swales wore a smart costume of pink baronet satin skirt, silk sweater and hat, all of which were most attractive as a setting for her pronounced blondeness.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Huff and Mrs. Mrs. Arthur Lutz were present, Mrs. Huff wearing white Japanese silk sport costume and Mrs. Lutz in grey and turquoise blue. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheatley, Mrs. Wheatley in blue and white sport suit with hat to harmonize, Miss Rosa Boyd in black, Miss Eleanor Thatcher in black lace gown; Miss Velma Miller wearing a white sport suit and Miss Eleanor Randall in yellow organdy, were among those noted.

JAPANESE TROOPS TO WEAR BOCHE HELMETS

TOKYO, July 17.—Japanese soldiers in Formosa are soon to be equipped with German helmets, the war office having decided what it is going to do with the headgear captured at Tsingtau. These helmets are not the steel hats worn by the German troops in Europe, which have been used by the British and French in road making, but are tropical helmets designed by the Germans for summer use in China.

The Tsingtau trophies to the number of many thousands are already in Formosa, being somewhat reduced in size to fit the average Japanese head, the cutting down being under way in the military clothing department. The helmets are of Formosan panama weave, covered with brown duck, and are said to be very efficient head covering for the tropics.

The Formosan garrison is also to be outfitted with a new style uniform, a feature of which will be ventilation holes in the armpits as a protection against sunstroke.

Delicious Cakes for Afternoon Tea

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH (Cut this out and paste it in your cook book.)

14 cup butter
2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1-2 cup milk
1-4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon vanilla

Work butter and sugar together until creamy. Add well beaten eggs, and beat thoroughly. Sift the flour with the baking powder;
add to the butter and sugar mixture alternately with the milk—first a little milk, then a little flour until all are used.

Bake in well-buttered muffin or patty tins 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Will make 18 or 20.

A good rule to follow for baking is this: During the first quarter of the time the mixture should rise but not brown; the second quarter of time the mixture should continue to rise and begin to brown.
The remainder of time the cake finishes baking.

This last half of the time allowed is the most critical. Up to that time the cake may be turned or moved without danger of falling.

staff of officers exemplifying the initiatory work of the order.

tended all Eastern Star members to ing which light refreshments will be served, will follow the chapter session.

Dr. Charles Slaughter of Dallas, Texas, is the guest of the W. K. Chastain home, 1058 North Shaffer street. This is Dr. Slaughter's first visit in Southern California, and he believes not half has been told of its beauties and charms, and thinks strongly of joining the Texas colony here.

The C. M. P. embroidery club met this week with Mrs. H. L. Bascomb of Tustin. The parlors were beautiful with brilliant dahlias. Members present besides the hostess were:

Mrs. L. W. Hemphill, John Campbell, Charles Bumper, William Anderson and George Campbell. A guest of the afternoon was Mrs. Mary Bruner of Santa Ana. Mrs. Bascomb was aided in the service of dainty refreshments by her nieces, Mary and Marian Bruner.

PERSONAL NEWS OF INTEREST AT TUSTIN

LEAVES ON JAUNT INTO HIGH SIERRAS

TUSTIN, July 17.—C. R. Brown left here Saturday for a fortnight's jaunt into the high Sierras as a member of a party including T. E. Stephenson, Teddy Stephenson and Dr. J. P. Boyd, all of Santa Ana.

Their objective is Mammoth Lake, Inyo county, but they are carrying an elastic schedule, along with their fishing equipment, and besides probably side-trips into the picturesque by-ways of the beaten path, a tour of Yosemite, by way of Tioga pass, is included.

During Brown's absence, Mrs. Brown is to pass part of the time at Laguna Beach with Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, Miss Rosa Boyd and Miss Mary Stone.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

TUSTIN, July 17.—Foster Prather, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Prather, of Laguna avenue, is home from the Santa Ana Community hospital, and able to be out a little. His arm is in a cast, but that does not keep him indoors. Foster Prather was the victim of a serious accident when the machine he was driving on Seventeenth avenue, just off of Prospect, skidded and overturned recently. Result was a broken shoulder and arm, ten stitches to be taken in a torn scalp and a long rest at the hospital. The machine was a complete wreck.

Foster admits he was driving in excess of twenty miles an hour, but "never again."

PEST CONTROL BOARD MAKES INVESTIGATION

TUSTIN, July 17.—Members of the Orange County Pest Control association visited Santa Barbara and Ventura counties recently to investigate the biological work done in these counties that is of interest to the citrus growers. In the group who made up the party were C. E. Utz, of Tustin, president of the board of pest control; F. Morris, of La Habra Citrus association; Mr. Hulbert, of the C. C. Chapman's organization; A. A. Brock, horticultural commissioner of Orange county, and A. H. Call, horticultural commissioner of Ventura county.

They report the results studied of interest and great promise to citrus growers throughout the state.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG & SMELTZER, July 17.—Joseph Tarbel, of Delaware, Ohio and his niece, Miss Aleda Tarbel, of Tacoma, Washington, who are spending the summer in Long Beach called recently at the G. M. Roberson home. Mrs. Roberson and Miss Tarbel's mother were old friends years ago in Ohio.

Word received from Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Maddux stated they are now at Hood River, Oregon, at the home of a brother of Mr. Maddux. They report a fine trip and much beautiful scenery.

Mrs. Charles Parr's aunt, Mrs. Andre, of Santa Ana, spent Friday and Saturday at the Parr home. Saturday night and Sunday was spent at the George Abbott home. The Parrs took their guest home Sunday evening.

W. H. Parr is spending a few days at Buena Park with Mr. and Mrs. Deavers.

Mrs. Wilford Lewis and her niece Lucille Taylor, from Hemet, visited Thursday with Mrs. W. A. Crane at Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham and son Alvin, Mr. and Mrs. George Crane, son S. J., daughters, Mary and Florel, Allen Giesler, of Taibert, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Brush, daughter Edith and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Chapman composed a party of friends who went grunion hunting recently at Sunset Beach. The beach was lined with other campers. The party arrived on the beach at nine and started a camp fire and the best part of the evening was the toasting and eating of the wetters with the usual buns, pickles and coffee. There were only two little fish caught but the party broke up at midnight declaring it had been a success and looking forward to another in the near future.

Another large party of friends went also grunion hunting at Sunset Beach. The party were: Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore and family, The Albert Ruoff family, C. C. Bonebrake and family, Emil Kettler and family, Wm. Kettler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Josh Piles, the Rev. J. S. Wilmarth and family, the George Murdock family, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Moore, Mrs. Ruck's house guest, Mrs. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Turner and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, and son, and John Kettler and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Pickles, of Santa Ana. The party built a large bonfire. All the older persons passed the evening in conversation while the children enjoyed themselves with games and wading along the beach. No grunion were caught and the party returned home about midnight.

He stopped his swinging arms, holding his hand above the flames. "He that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God and God in him; for God is love." He opened his fingers, and the crumpled letter fell and was consumed. He pushed himself up from the mantelpiece and turned and went over to Twynning and stood over him again. He patted Twynning's heaving shoulders.

"There, there, Twynning. Bad luck. Bad luck. Hard. Hard. Bear up. Twynning. Soldier's death... Finest death... Died for his country. Fine boy... Soldier's death. Bad luck. Bad luck. Twynning..."

Twynning, inarticulate, pushed up his hand and felt for Sabre's hand and clutched it and squeezed it convulsively.

Sabre said again, "There, there, Twynning. Hard. Hard. Fine death... Brave boy..." He disengaged his hand and turned and walked very slowly from the room.

He went along the passage, past Mr. Fortune's door towards that which had been his own, still walking very slowly and with his hand against the wall to steady himself. He felt deathly ill.

He went into his own room, unentered by him for many months, now his own room no more, and dropped heavily into the familiar chair at the familiar desk. He put his arms out along the desk and laid his head upon them. Oh, cumulative touch! He began to be shaken with onsets of emotion, as with sobs. Oh, cumulative touch!

The communicating door opened and Mr. Fortune appeared. He stared at Sabre in astounded indignation. "Sabre! You here! I must say—I must admit—"

Sabre clutched up his dry and terrible sobbing. He turned swiftly to Mr. Fortune and put his hands on the arms of the chair to rise.

A curious look came upon his face. He said, "I say, I'm sorry. I'm sorry—I can't get up."

Mr. Fortune boomed, "Can't get up?"

"I say—No. I say, I think something's happened to me. I can't get up."

The door opened. Hapgood came in, and Nona.

Sabre said, "I say, Hapgood—Nona—Nona! I say, Nona, I think something's happened to me. I can't get up."

A change came over his face. He collapsed back in the chair. "Marko! Marko!"

She who thus cried ran forward and threw herself on her knees beside him, her hands stretched up to him.

Hapgood turned furiously on Mr. Fortune. "Go for a doctor! Go like hell! Sabre! Sabre, old man!"

Hemorrhage on the brain," said the doctor. "Well, if there's no more effusion of blood, you quite understand me. I say if there isn't... Has he been through any kind of strain?"

"Trouble," said Hapgood. "Strain. He's been in hell—right in."

When he was removed and they had left him, Nona said to Hapgood as they came down the steps of the County Hospital, "There was a thing he was so fond of, Mr. Hapgood:"

"... O Wind. If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?"

"It comes to me now. There must be a turning now. If he dies... still, a turning."

CHAPTER VIII

Hapgood across the coffee cups, the liqueur glasses and the cigars, wagged his solemn head at Mr. friend of his, newly returned from a long visit to America. He wagged a solemn head:

"She's got her divorce, that wife of his..."

"I've told you in my letters how he went on after that collapse, that brain hemorrhage. I told you we got Ormond Clive on to him. Clive was a friend of that Lady Tybar. She was with Sabre all the time. Pretty well every day I'd look in. Every day Ormond Clive would come. Time and again we'd stand around the bed, we three—watching. Impenetrable and extraordinary business! There was his body, alive, breathing. His mind, his consciousness, his ego, his self, his whatever you like to call it—not there. Away. Absent. Not in that place."

Yesterday Ormond Clive said Sabre might be cautiously approached about things. For three weeks past Clive's not let us—me or that Lady Tybar—see him. Yesterday we were permitted again; and I took steps to be there first. "You know you're wife's divorced you, old man?" He said painfully. "Yes, I know. I remember that."

"Of course it will come back to him in time that the business hadn't happened before his illness. In time he'll begin to grope after detailed recollection, and he'll begin to realize that he never did go through it and that it must have happened while he was ill. There'll be another thing, too. He'll find his wife has married again. Yes, fact! I heard in a roundabout way that she's going to marry an old neighbor of theirs, chap called Major Millet, Hopscotch Millet, old Sabre used to call him. However, that's not the thing—that will have happened and will make him thank God. What do I mean? Well, that's telling; and I don't feel it's quite mine to tell. Tell you what, you come around and have a look at the old chap tomorrow. I dare bet he'll be on the road towards it by then and perhaps tell us himself."

Sabre was sitting propped up in bed awaiting who next might come. The nurse had told him he was to have visitors that morning.

The door opened and one came in. Nona.

She said to him, "Marko!"

He had no reply that he could make.

She slipped off a fur that she was wearing and came and sat down beside him. She wore what he would have thought of as a kind of waistcoat thing, cut like his own waistcoat but short; and opened above like a waistcoat but turned back in a white rolled edging, revealing all her throat. She had a little close-fitting hat banded with flowers and a loose veil depended from it. She put back her veil.

Beauty abode in her face as the scent within the rose. Hapgood had said; and, as perfume deeply inhaled, her serene and tender beauty penetrated Sabre's senses, propped up, watching her. He had something to say to her.

"How long is it since I have seen you, Nona?"

"It's a month since I was here, Marko."

"I don't remember it."

"You've been very ill; oh, so ill." He said slowly, "Yes, I think I've been down in a pretty deep place."

"You're going to be splendid now, Marko."

He did not respond to her tone. He said, "I've come on a lot in the last few weeks. I'd an idea you've been about me before that. There's a thing I've been thinking out to tell you."

She breathed, "Yes, tell me, Marko."

But he did not answer. She said, "Have you been thinking, in these weeks, while you've been coming on, what you are going to do?"

His hands, that had been crumpling up the sheet, were now laid flat before him. His eyes, that had been regarding her, were now averted from her, fixed ahead.

"There is nothing I can do, in the way you mean."

She was silent a little time. "Marko, we've not talked at all about the greatest thing—of course they've told you—the Armistice, the war won—England, your England that you loved so, at peace, victorious; those dark years done. England her own again. Your dear England, Marko."

He said, "It's no more to do with me. Fearful things have happened to me. Fearful things."

She went on, "There's your book—your 'England.' You have that to go to now. And your plans—do you remember telling me all your plans? Such splendid plans. And first of all your 'England' that you loved writing so."

He said, "It can't be. It can't be."

She began again to speak. He said, "I don't want to hear those things. They have nothing to do with me."

He then aroused himself and spoke and had a firmness in his voice. "And I'll tell you this," he said, "This was what I said I had to tell you. When you go, you are not to return. I don't want to see you again."

She drew a breath, steadying herself. "Why not, Marko?"

"Because what's been has been. Done. I've been through frightful things. They're on me still. They always will be on me. But from everything that belongs to them I want to get right away. And I'm going to."

"What are you going to do?"

"I don't know. Only get right away."

She got up. "Very well. I understand." She turned away. "It grieves me, Marko. But I understand. I've always understood you." She turned again and came close to him. "That's what you're going to do. Do you know what I'm going to do?"

He shook his head. He was breathing deeply.

"I'm going to do what I ought to have done the minute I came into the room. I hadn't quite the courage. This."

She suddenly stooped over him. She encircled him with her arms and slightly raised him to her. She put her lips to his and kissed him and held him so.

"You are never going to leave me, Marko. Never, never, never, till death."

He cried, "Beloved. Beloved," and clung to her. "Beloved, Beloved!" and clung to her...

FORD AUTO SETS HIGH MARK OF DURABILITY

That four out of every five Ford trucks and cars sold in the past fourteen years are still in service, was disclosed today to Joe Stout, of Knox and Stout, Ford agents, in information received here from the Ford factory, announcing that the six millionth car manufactured had been sent out from the plant.

Stout pointed out that of the total production, 5,517,956 cars and trucks were delivered in the United States, with statistics indicating that 4,479,248 of the number are still in daily service. The other 1,038,708 cars have been shipped to foreign countries, wrecked or are beyond repair.

Stout says that reports show that Ford products have been evenly distributed throughout the United States, this being evidenced by the fact that through the sparsely settled communities in the West to the densely populated cities in the East, virtually the same ratio of Ford cars and trucks to population exists.

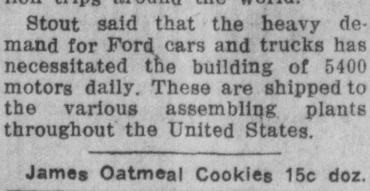

"Ohio leads in the number of Ford trucks, with a total of 290,769," Stout said. "Illinois is second, Pennsylvania third, Texas fourth and Michigan fifth. New York, Iowa and California follow in the order named, all having more than 200,000."

"An idea of the important part played by Ford cars and trucks in the daily transportation of goods and persons in the United States may be gained by realization of the fact that with the Ford equipment now in operation, averaging a minimum of 5000 miles a year, they would pile up a total of twenty-five billion transportation miles—equivalent to more than a million trips around the world."

Stout said that the heavy demand for Ford cars and trucks has necessitated the building of 5400 motors daily. These are shipped to the various assembling plants throughout the United States.

MOTORCYCLIST IS INJURED IN CRASH

Slight bruises received by J. J. Glenn, motorcyclist, near El Toro, formed the only injury officially reported from Sunday traffic accidents in Orange county, as shown in records today at the sheriff's office headquarters. The mishap took place late yesterday.

Glenn was pushing his machine out of a driveway, by means of "padding" with his feet while sitting astride of the seat, when struck by a car driven by Glenn E. Haskell, of Los Angeles. Haskell drove into the ditch in his effort to avoid the collision, but was unsuccessful. Glenn, however, was not badly hurt.

O. M. W. McLane, of Terminal, reported that his car struck the rear of a wagon belonging to F. Alonzo, Westminster, when McLane's car was crowded to one side by a speeding machine. The collision took place two miles west of Westminster late Saturday.

J. M. Sappington, 1665 East First street, Santa Ana, driving an R. and S. Transfer company truck a mile north of Buena Park late yesterday, collided with an automobile driven by Con Roy, of Hollywood.

Delbert Elliott, 326 East First street, and Thomas Shedd of Tustin figured in a collision at Second and Main streets yesterday, their cars coming together when Elliott started to turn into a service station.

Lloyd D. Chrisman, 315 West Second street, Santa Ana, and Mrs. H. L. Wellman, of Long Beach, were driving cars that collided at Seal Beach late yesterday, both machines being slightly damaged. Mrs. Wellman was following Chrisman in a line of traffic and when the line halted, did not stop her car in time to avoid striking Chrisman's machine, it was said.

BEACH PHOTOS CRUX IN L. A. FRAUD CASE

Confession that in conspiracy with a medical man in order to win damages for an accident, he had allowed a serum to be injected into his spine which caused temporary paralysis from the waist down was said by Los Angeles police to have been made today by Melbourne J. Amiraute, held at the city jail in Los Angeles according to word received here. Amiraute, confronted with Miss Ruth Haner, a young woman whose affections he was said to have won and lost, was claimed to have admitted the girl's statements regarding the operation. Amiraute had sued those responsible for an auto accident for $50,000.

Photographs made at Balboa Beach will play a prominent part in the prosecution of Melbourne J. Amiraute, jailed in Los Angeles and charged with conspiracy to defraud two large corporations out of $50,000, it was learned here today.

Amiraute, a prisoner in the Los Angeles city jail, is asserted by police to have worked in partnership with a medical man in the invention of a new and startling crime method. It is charged that he permitted a physician to inject a fluid into his spine which temporarily paralyzed the nerves from the waist down.

While he was in this condition, which he claimed was the result of an accident, police aver that Amiraute would stand the most rigid examination by noted physicians. A woman, however, proved to be his undoing.

Claims Severe Injury. March 1, police assert, two large trucks racing down Washington street, afforded Amiraute an opportunity to try out his "paralysis" scheme. The trucks, belonging to the Hammond Lumber company and the George Eastman company, collided while racing. In the smash a small car occupied by Amiraute was damaged.

Claiming he had been badly injured in the collision, Amiraute, according to George Greer, attorney for the companies, declined to settle for $500, displayed marked evidences of "paralysis," and demanded $50,000.

Attorney Greer's suspicions were aroused, however, and detectives were assigned to the case. Surveillance disclosed that Amiraute and Miss Ruth Haner often visited the mountains and the beaches. On such occasions Amiraute would discard his crutches. At the same time noted specialists were employed to examine Amiraute.

Specialist Sees Fake. "This man is, to all appearances, a paralytic," reported one of the specialists, "but I believe he is faking."

This Amiraute refused to have a special X-ray taken, officers claim, whereupon he was shadowed constantly for many weeks. While at Balboa, detectives declare, Amiraute, in company with Miss Haner, threw aside the crutches he had been using and romped on the sands, chasing Miss Haner for hours. A photographer, representing Attorney Greer, took numerous pictures of the "paralyzed" man running along the beach.

According to detectives, Miss Haner later exposed Amiraute and his arrest followed.

LEGION PLANS RITES FOR WORLD WAR VET

Arrangements were going forward today for the funeral of Otto H. Shewe, World War veteran who passed away at Camp Kearny, where he was taken for treatment June 20. Shewe's body was brought to Anaheim today.

The veteran had not been in good health, it was said, since his experience of being gassed while overseas. He leaves a widow, three children, his parents, three sisters and one brother.

NAB PAIR HERE IN ALLEGED BURGLARY

Taken into custody in Santa Ana, Joe W. Davis, 34, and Percival Downey, 18, had been removed to San Diego today to face charges of burglary, the most serious among sundry accusations reported to have been filed against them at San Diego and Riverside county authorities.

Davis and Downey were taken into custody at a house on West Third street, having been trailed to this city by H. D. Rudrauff, of Ramona, who charged that they had stolen a saddle and revolver from him.

Following the arrest, City Marshal Sam Jernigan, learning that San Diego authorities held a felony warrant for the two men, ascertained that they were charged with burglary. He notified the San Diego county sheriff of the capture and officers from that city took charge of the prisoners yesterday.

Jernigan likewise discovered that the Riverside county sheriff wanted Davis and Downey for the alleged theft of two horses, two saddles and saddle blankets from that city.

Davis, with his wife and Downey, driving a touring car containing the alleged loot from Riverside and Ramona, were followed by Rudrauff from Ramona to Laguna Beach. Rudrauff lost the trail there and asked Constable G. W. Jubb of Laguna Beach to assist him. Jubb and Rudrauff came to this city Saturday and enlisted aid of the police. Officer Murray was with them late Saturday when they lay in wait at the Third street house and arrested Davis and Downey, who were down town when the officers arrived there.

NEW LAW MAY TREAT BEE AS WILD ANIMAL IS HINTED

Game Warden Asks Solons to Save Land Owners from 'Hunters'

FIRE RISK IS CITED

Danger Is Great as Honey Makers 'Smoked' From Trees, Claim

Orange county may take official cognizance of bees as wild animals. At least it may to the extent of framing an ordinance patterned after a state law prohibiting the killing of birds and animals on a man's property without his consent.

This became known here today when it was disclosed that District Attorney A. P. Nelson, at the suggestion of W. E. Adkinson, county fire and game warden, was planning to appear before the board of supervisors tomorrow with a request that they pass a "bee ordinance."

This county law would place under the ban the taking of bees from a man's property without the owner's consent.

Eliminate Fire Risk
The elimination of a considerable fire risk in the hills and mountains of the county, is the purpose of the proposed ordinance.

The connection between bees and fires, it was pointed out, is that each summer serious brush and forest fires are threatened by bee hunters who are careless in building fires at the butts of trees housing colonies of bees.

The new ordinance, Adkinson let forth, would have a tendency to make fire prevention activities more effective in giving the authorities another law in addition to others already in force, such as the one making it unlawful to set fire to brush or inflammable matter on private property without the owner's permission.

Arrest Baler Foreman
It was recalled that under the latter law Louis Camarillo, a Mexican, foreman of a hay baling crew working in the lower Trabuco canyon, was arrested last week.

While gathering honey, according to Adkinson, Camarillo and two other men built fires at the butts of three trees and started what threatened to develop into a fire which would have destroyed thousands of acres of hay and barley in the vicinity had not Joseph O'Neil, cattle foreman on the Jerome O'Neill ranch, arrived on the scene and with the assistance of others put out the flames.

Arraigned before John Daneri, justice of the peace at San Juan Capistrano, Camarillo pleaded not guilty. His trial was scheduled to be held at the mission town today.

Bee Hunters Blamed
"Last year," Adkinson said, "two disastrous fires in the Santa Ana

BARE ACTIVITY OF ALLEGED SWINDLER

41 County Men Victims of Ultra-Modern 'Job Bunko' Operator, Claim

Sheriff C. E. Jackson, in co-operation with Los Angeles authorities and the postal inspectors of the Southland, was today searching for a man known as W. C. Clark, who is said to be the ultra-modern swindler.

According to the authorities, Clark embezzled between $5,000 and $6,000 from 1,250 men in Orange and Los Angeles counties, whom he promised work on railroads during the strike.

Clark is said to have required a $5 fee for an assurance of employment on the Southern Pacific system.

The authorities say he established what he called the "Southern Pacific Secret Service" office, near First street and Broadway, Los Angeles.

Raid Suspect's Office
Late last week the officers, suspicious of affairs, raided the alleged employment office, and found nothing but a few papers strewn about.

They then instituted the search, calling on Sheriff Jackson to assist.

Attention of the railroad to the unauthorized use of its name was called when W. E. Wells called on Special Agent C. E. Webster, to inquire about the employment which he said he procured through the fictitious agency.

Say Laws Broken
The railroad maintains no such agency, and a conference with United States District Attorney Joe C. Burke disclosed that the postal laws had been fractured.

From each of his 1250 clients, forty-one of whom are said to have been in Orange county, Clark is said to have received $5 as a fee, after promising them work as strikebreakers.

The jobs never materialized, and now the 1250 men are supporting the authorities with their best wishes for the capture and punishment of the alleged up-to-date swindler.

MAN, 87, TRIES TO FOIL DRY RAID, CLAIM

With the dust settling today over the scene of a reported battle between prohibition agents and Adolfo Manriquez, 87, who attempted to fight off a raid on the Teodocio Goodwin home at San Juan Capistrano, the federal officers were denying accusations that they used violence on the aged man, who was found handcuffed to a bed.

Goodwin, who was arrested Sunday, June 9, while he was attending a picnic of French folk at El Toro, was meanwhile at liberty under $1,000 bail, pending his preliminary examination, set for next Monday in the Los Angeles federal courts. He is charged with operating a still for the manufacture of liquor.

That the dry agents, who swooped down on Goodwin's place during his absence, met lively resistance from the octogenarian, who had been left in charge, appeared to be undisputed. Assertions that a trail of wrecked furniture, besides the ruins of equipment alleged to have been used in illicit liquor manufacture, was left by the raiders, seemed to bear out the reports that Manriquez, aged but surprisingly energetic in his resistance, put up a lively struggle before he was overpowered.

Emphatic denial, however, was entered today by W. W. Anderson, regional agent, in Los Angeles, to Goodwin's accusations that the prohibition raiders had used unnecessary violence on the old man.

Anderson admitted that handcuffs had been placed on Manriquez, but stated that this was merely to curb the latter's unreasonableness in attempting to stave off the raid.

Following his arrest late on Sunday, Goodwin was taken to Long Beach by the officers, who arraigned him in Los Angeles next morning. His bail was then fixed and the date set for his preliminary hearing.

MOVIE STARS URGE INDIVIDUALITY IN DRESSING OF HAIR

Above Lila Lee, demonstrating simplicity in hair-dress; lower right, Gloria Swanson, demonstrating sophistication, and Lois Wilson striking a happy medium.

BY MARIAN HALE

This started out to be a story on the latest styles in hair-dressing. It was diverted from such worthy end only when I discovered that there is no such thing!

The way you dress your hair these days is an individual matter.

If you can just look yourself firmly in the eye and say, "I am a little long on nose, and slightly short as to chin, hence I must arrange my hair to foil both defects," then you have the courage that will help you work out a satisfactory solution.

Watch how the movie queens do it. Take Gloria Swanson, for instance. Her exotic type, her unusual costumes, and her all-around "differentness" call for something unique.

Gloria Tells Views
"I favor a high headdress," says she, "because it makes me look taller. I like an extreme dressing, one that seems to have been created as the climax of my costume."

But Lila Lee would be hopelessly miscast under such treatment. She is the girlish, ingenu type who needs only to look natural and artless to be charming. She knows this, so she arranges her dark, thick hair close to her head in loose marcel waves.

"I like to part my hair in the middle," says she, "because it gives the even balanced effect I like."

Lois Wilson, representing the large majority of women who need a bit of sophistication as well as simplicity, has achieved the conservative headdress which is as near universally becoming as any one style can be.

Parts It Carelessly
"I sort of part it carelessly a little to one side, then pull it back softly," she explains. "I have learned just where my face needs hanging, and where it needs to be softened, and have trained my hair in the way it should go. Being naturally wavy, it gives me very little trouble."

One of the best ways to learn to do your hair becomingly is to study the methods of those who have achieved beautiful effects, and try them on yourself until you find one that just suits your features. Then stick to it.

MINE HERE YIELDS $8184 IN MINERAL

Not all of Orange county's mineral wealth in 1921 was developed in the form of oil, it was disclosed today in a report prepared by the United States geological survey on mining activities in California during that year.

In Orange county, it was shown, there was one producing mine in 1921. From this mine 1,000 short tons of ore were treated. This ore produced $185 worth of gold and $7,423 worth of silver. While it yielded no copper, it produced 13,240 pounds of lead. These minerals were worth a total of $8,184, the report said.

The total value of the ore mined in the state in 1921 from 573 producers was $20,952,423. In 1920 there were 500 producers which turned out $18,973,680 worth of ore.

The one producer in Orange county in 1921 was a mine in the Silverado canyon. This mine is not being operated this year, except desultorily, it was said.

GIRL BEAUTIES OF COUNTY TO RULE AT BIG SEPTEMBER CARNIVAL

Contest to Select Queen of Fair Expected to Produce Rivalry

PROJECT IS APPROVED

C. of C. Chief to Discuss Plans With Committee Here Tomorrow

The prettiest girls in Orange county are going to be very much in evidence at the county fair to be given here in September, if present tentative plans materialize, according to General Manager James C. Metzger.

"Advance indications are that this will be one of the greatest affairs of its kind ever attempted in Southern California," said Metzger, who returned today from a visit to show executives in Riverside, San Bernardino and other cities.

"We are not going to lose any time in getting the necessary machinery in motion," Metzger continued, commenting on certain information which he will lay before the executive committee which meets at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow at 9 a. m.

County Support Assured
There are excellent reasons for believing that the people of the county will heartily endorse and wholeheartedly support the Orange County Fair. We are gratified with the assurances of co-operation we have received and we will make every reasonable effort to prove to the people that we deserve this support.

"Many innovations will be introduced at the county fair and a number of interesting features have been suggested. Not the least among these is the proposition that the thousands of beautiful women in Orange county be given an opportunity to compete for the honor of reigning as queen."

"This and other suggestions will receive thoughtful consideration. Orange county is not only the richest county, for its size, in the United States, but it has some of the handsomest and best-dressed women in the entire West."

Women to Help Fair
These women are workers and they will do themselves proud in the effort to make the fair a pronounced success. If we decide to sponsor a contest for queen, there is bound to be keen rivalry. The judges will have a difficult time to decide the issue."

At the executive committee meeting tomorrow Metzger expects to be able to make specific recommendations concerning the appointment of additional committees, outline plans for active campaign work, discuss novel features designed to secure widespread publicity, and broaden the scope of the existing committees.

Questions to be decided at this and other sessions of the executive committee will have to do with the activities of the respective committees and the general management of the fair.

Committees Appointed
Committees appointed thus far include the advisory committee, committee on grounds and location, publicity committee, committee on premiums, prizes and judges, and the music and entertainment committee.

Indications are that features of unusual interest to housewives and women in general will be introduced, including a Cinderella contest open to all women with tiny feet. Fruit and canning exhibits are expected to outlive anything of the kind ever attempted here. It is also possible that a monster poultry show will be staged.

Many of the children are brought to the clinic regularly in order that they have response to the treatment may be recorded.

The number varies from week to week, but always there are several awaiting the opening at 3 p. m. At the last held twelve babies were examined, eight of whom were boys. In addition to Master James Donald Hewitt, Richard and Paul De Baugh, two little brothers, of 1114 West Fourth street, and John C. James Jr. and Fred W. James, a second pair of brothers of 1729 Valencia street, each of whom was vastly interested in the process as it applied to the other, were examined.

Gordon William Scott, of 622 Riverside avenue, curly-haired little "Billy" Van Horn, 2334 Bush street, who decided the weighing basket was a splendid boat and it was his place to rock it, and Richard Elsworth Gentry, who with his small sister, Elizabeth, came to the conclusion that an ice cream cone was all that made the process endurable were others.

Miss Carrie Leebrick, in charge of the Social Service league, and Miss Duran have asked for expressions of opinions from mothers who would like to have the benefit of examination and advice for their babies at a morning clinic.

BOOST OIL HEATER IN WAR ON FROST

More than 100 Orange county citrus growers were today practically applying the information gained at the citrus institute held at Pomona last Friday and Saturday.

At Friday's meeting, experts urged the growers to make use only of frost preventatives of proven worth. They issued warnings against new and untried appliances, many of which are on the market. The oil heater was recommended as the only sure way of preventing frost damage.

Saturday pest control was the subject of discussion. It was stated that biological control is useful in eliminating the black scale, but that other varieties must be controlled by fumigation.

About 400 growers from all portions of Southern California were in attendance.

REPORT CONDITION OF GUN ACCIDENT VICTIM UNCHANGED

The condition of Miss Vivian Burge, 14, who accidentally shot herself a week ago, was reported as virtually unchanged by Community hospital attendants today. Miss Burge had a fairly comfortable night, nurses said, but the left foot, affected by the shock of the bullet wound in the abdomen, is causing her some pain.

"While my daughter's general condition is satisfactory," said E. D. Burge today, "it is true that the left foot is giving us some concern. It is somewhat swollen and at times the pain is intense. This is due to impaired circulation."

"She is taking light foods, however, and her temperature yesterday was from four to six degrees better than on any day since she met with the accident. There is some doubt as to whether the intestines were punctured, but no attempt will be made to remove the bullet at present."

WINTERSBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gothard, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beam, Mr. and Mrs. George Gothard, John and Arthur Murdy, William Sparks, Norma Lordeer, George Gothard Jr. and Miss Ethel Gothard. The party ate the usual "hot dogs" and buns and caught seven grunions.

P. L. BRINEY, HOME TOWN BOOSTER, BACK IN BUSINESS HERE

DECLARES HALF THE VIRTUES OF ORANGE COUNTY HAVE NEVER BEEN TOLD—BUILDS SEVERAL HOMES IN SANTA ANA—HERE TO STAY

Suitorium, Oldest Dry Cleaning Establishment in Town, is Still Growing—Business Built on the Theory that Every Customer Must Have Service that is Entirely Satisfactory.

"There is only one way of getting on well with any line of business," declared P. L. Briney, proprietor of the Sutorium, "and that is to make good. Promises never get a man anywhere unless he fulfills them. That's the way it goes, the world over—keeping faith with the public means credit at the bank, confidence with your friends, happiness in your home, pleasure in your business, and success."

The unusually healthy growth of the business enterprises Mr. Briney has undertaken can be regarded as conclusive evidence that he knows what he is talking about.

"You ask me how I happened to locate here," said P. L. Briney, proprietor of The Sutorium, "it was like this: I had read a lot and heard a great deal about Santa Ana and Southern California, and I had been told that it was all hot air. So I just came out here to see. And when I arrived here and stayed around a while I found out that half the virtues of this country had never been told. I looked around over the Southland a bit after I had seen Santa Ana, but it was a sort of 'love at first sight' with me and I came back to Santa Ana to stay."

Since coming here six years ago Briney has induced many other easterners to come out and share the joys of living in Nature's Wonderland. He bought the Sutorium a few days after he landed in Santa Ana. The establishment was then located on East Fourth street.

The Sutorium is the oldest dry-cleaning establishment in town. It had been running about nine years when Briney took it over. The first year of Briney's piloting showed an increase of fifty per cent in the volume of business. The next year the books disclosed that an increase of two hundred per cent had been made in the two years' business. The business is still growing today, the proprietor said.

Miss Olive Briney, daughter of P. L. Briney, who has been with the business since it was taken over six years ago, and who up to that time was owner and manager of the Queen City Dressmaking College in this management virtually the whole management of the cleaning department, making a specialty of ladies' wearing apparel. In 1920 Briney branched out into the building game. He has built several good houses in Santa Ana and vicinity in the past two years. Among his latest creations is a strictly modern six-room house at 1435 West First street, which he has just completed and placed upon the market.

This will make a fine home for someone who is looking for a high class property in a good location. This month he became actively engaged again in the work of the Sutorium. During the time he has been out of the office the work of the shop has been under lease to Baird & Roberts.

"You can say for me, though," Briney declared, "that Miss Olive who has acquired a half interest in the business, will still be forelady and assistant manager. Her success in that capacity in the past is sufficient guarantee of the efficient work of the Sutorium in the future."

P. L. Briney is a good bit of a home town booster. Those who know him best say he is never satisfied unless he is building something.

Built on Good Service The modern idea is that every place of business should have a slogan. It is not a new idea with the Sutorium. "Prompt and Satisfactory Service" has been the burden of the Sutorium advertising matter ever since the Brineys acquired the place.

"A firm can't be too careful about seeing that all customers are satisfied," it was remarked. "We figure it is our business to see that every patron of this place gets exactly what he wants. We employ only drivers that will pay attention to business. When our phone rings we have a car on the way immediately."

We believe that a dry cleaning establishment has a public service to perform. We save people a lot of money by saving their clothing. We have taken many a suit and coat that was considered ready to discard by the owner and have returned it so nearly like new that the owner could hardly believe it. Many a family has learned of this economy and consequently has more money to spend for other things than clothing.

The Sutorium, at 309 N. Sycamore, across the street from the Post Office and a little north, does a general dry cleaning and pressing business, turns out a first class job of dyeing and in fact, sends back soiled apparel just about like new.

In order that the high standard of efficiency may be maintained in the growing business, Mrs. Mabel Miller, an expert in dry cleaning, recently from Colorado Springs, is now a part of the regular force. She has spent many years in the business and is rated as a very high class specialist on ladies' garments. With expert help and with a determination to see that each customer is thoroughly satisfied, it is predicted that the business of the Sutorium will continue to grow and prosper.

700 'Y' FUND PAYMENTS ON DUE LIST

Seven hundred subscribers to the Y. M. C. A. building fund are delinquent in payments promised for July 1, E. B. Sprague, treasurer, stated today.

Sprague has mailed notices to that number of pledgors, requesting that they meet their obligation at once so as not to cripple the board of directors in their plans for carrying out the Y program.

The board of directors will meet at the Y headquarters, in the First National bank building, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. It is hoped that the articles of incorporation filed with the secretary of state a week ago will have been returned by tomorrow night so that the board may proceed with its plans.

E. T. Sams, of Los Angeles, business secretary of the state organization, will be present. One of the important actions of tomorrow night may be the selection of Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Y at San Jose, as building secretary.

At a meeting of the board last Tuesday night a committee consisting of E. B. Sprague, H. A. Lake and J. A. Cranston was appointed to make recommendation to the board of someone for the position. The committee will meet tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock and is expected to be prepared to make recommendation to the board when it meets.

BOOST OIL HEATER IN WAR ON FROST

More than 100 Orange county citrus growers were today practically applying the information gained at the citrus institute held at Pomona last Friday and Saturday.

At Friday's meeting, experts urged the growers to make use only of frost preventatives of proven worth. They issued warning against new and untried appliances, many of which are on the market. The oil heater was recommended as the only sure way of preventing frost damage.

Saturday pest control was the subject of discussion. It was stated that biological control is useful in eliminating the black scale, but that other varieties must be controlled by fumigation.

About 400 growers from all portions of Southern California were in attendance.

REPORT CONDITION OF GUN ACCIDENT VICTIM UNCHANGED

The condition of Miss Vivian Burge, 14, who accidentally shot herself a week ago, was reported as virtually unchanged by Community hospital attendants today. Miss Burge had a fairly comfortable night, nurses said, but the left foot, affected by the shock of the bullet wound in the abdomen, is causing her some pain.

"While my daughter's general condition is satisfactory," said E. D. Burge today, "it is true that the left foot is giving us some concern. It is somewhat swollen and at times the pain is intense. This is due to impaired circulation."

"She is taking light foods, however, and her temperature yesterday was from four to six degrees better than on any day since she met with the accident. There is some doubt as to whether the intestines were punctured, but no attempt will be made to remove the bullet at present."

WINTERSBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gothard, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beam, Mr. and Mrs. George Gothard, John and Arthur Murdy, William Sparks, Norma Lordeer, George Gothard Jr. and Miss Ethel Gothard. The party ate the usual "hot dogs" and buns and caught seven grunion.

P. L. BRINEY, HOME TOWN BOOSTER, BACK IN BUSINESS HERE

DECLARES HALF THE VIRTUES OF ORANGE COUNTY HAVE NEVER BEEN TOLD—BUILDS SEVERAL HOMES IN SANTA ANA—HERE TO STAY

Suitorium, Oldest Dry Cleaning Establishment in Town, is Still Growing—Business Built on the Theory that Every Customer Must Have Service that is Entirely Satisfactory.

"There is only one way of getting on well with any line of business," declared P. L. Briney, proprietor of the Suitorium, "and that is to make good. Promises never get a man anywhere unless he fulfills them. That's the way it goes, the world over—keeping faith with the public means credit at the bank, confidence with your friends, happiness in your home, pleasure in your business, and success."

The unusually healthy growth of the business enterprises Mr. Briney has undertaken can be regarded as conclusive evidence that he knows what he is talking about.

"You ask me how I happened to locate here," said P. L. Briney, proprietor of The Suitorium, "it was like this: I had read a lot and heard a great deal about Santa Ana and Southern California, and I had been told that it was all hot air. So I just came out here to see. And when I arrived here and stayed around a while I found out that half the virtues of this country had never been told. I looked around over the Southland a bit after I had seen Santa Ana, but it was a sort of 'love at first sight' with me and I came back to Santa Ana to stay."

Since coming here six years ago Briney has induced many other easterners to come out and share the joys of living in Nature's Wonderland. He bought the Suitorium a few days after he landed in Santa Ana. The establishment was then located on East Fourth street.

The Suitorium is the oldest dry-cleaning establishment in town. It had been running about nine years when Briney took it over. The first year of Briney's piloting showed an increase of fifty per cent in the volume of business. The next year the books disclosed that an increase of two hundred per cent had been made in the two years' business. The business is still growing today, the proprietor said.

Miss Olive Briney, daughter of P. L. Briney, who has been with the business since it was taken over six years ago, and who up to that time was owner and manager of the Queen City Dressmaking College in this city, has had virtually the whole management of the cleaning department, making a specialty of ladies' wearing apparel. In 1920 Briney branched out into the building game. He has built several good houses in Santa Ana and vicinity in the past two years. Among his latest creations is a strictly modern six-room house at 1435 West First street, which he has just completed and placed upon the market.

This will make a fine home for someone who is looking for a high class property in a good location. This month he became actively engaged again in the work of the Suitorium. During the time he has been out of the office the work of the shop has been under lease to Baird & Roberts.

"You can say for me, though," Briney declared, "that Miss Olive who has acquired a half interest in the business, will still be forelady and assistant manager. Her success in that capacity in the past is sufficient guarantee of the efficient work of the Suitorium in the future."

P. L. Briney is a good bit of a home town booster. Those who know him best say he is never satisfied unless he is building something.

Built on Good Service
The modern idea is that every place of business should have a slogan. It is not a new idea with the Suitorium. "Prompt and Satisfactory Service," has been the burden of the Suitorium advertising matter ever since the Brineys acquired the place.

"A firm can't be too careful about seeing that all customers are satisfied," it was remarked. "We figure it is our business to see that every patron of this place gets exactly what he wants. We employ only drivers that will pay attention to business. When our phone rings we have a car on the way immediately."

"We believe that a dry cleaning establishment has a public service to perform. We save people a lot of money by saving their clothing. We have taken many a suit and coat that was considered ready to discard by the owner and have returned it so nearly like new that the owner could hardly believe it. Many a family has learned of this economy and consequently has more money to spend for other things than clothing."

The Suitorium, at 309 N. Sycamore, across the street from the Post Office and a little north, does a general dry cleaning and pressing business, turns out a first class job of dyeing and in fact, sends back soiled apparel just about like new.

In order that the high standard of efficiency may be maintained in the growing business, Mrs. Mabel Miller, an expert in dry cleaning, recently from Colorado Springs, is now a part of the regular force. She has spent many years in the business and is rated as a very high class specialist on ladies' garments.

With expert help and with a determination to see that each customer is thoroughly satisfied, it is predicted that the business of the Suitorium will continue to grow and prosper.

I AM leaving California and will sacrifice my 126 acre dairy ranch, part irrigated, unlimited water supply, good plum trees, a chance to double your money by diversified farming. Write or come and see it to be convinced. M. S. Davis, San Marcos, San Diego Co., Calif.

THINK OF IT! INVESTORS SPECULATORS

50 acres of the finest soil in Orange county, 30 acres in citrus, 20 acres bare, 2 pumps and wells, one throwing 70 inches and would throw 100 inches with a heavier pump head, and other throwing 35 inches. 3 horses, 1 cow and all implements go. Houses, barns and other buildings.

THIS property is in a region a few miles from Santa Ana where no frost or burning winds have been known to hit in 20 years. This fact alone is worth $1,000 per acre—isn't that so, Mr. Buyer?

Plant this property to Valencia oranges and in three years you will have a place worth $200,000. The water alone is worth many thousands of dollars. These wells have never gone dry. An orange grove, a tree nursery. How about it, nurserymen?

Now here comes the wonderful part of what there is to say. You can have this fine ranch for $70,000 down and your own terms on the balance.

If you are at all interested see us at once as this ranch will sell to about the first man who looks it over.

EVENING SALUTATION

"Oh, teach it to that boy of yours—teach him the glorious strength of toil, Teach him to work for his desires, teach him the riches of the soil. Let us not grow soft-mannered now, still let our race go proudly on; Hard work had made us what we are — if pleasure grips us, we are gone!"

REGIONAL DEFENSE LEAGUES

The disarmament plan proposed by a League of Nations commission and said to be viewed favorably by the league, is obviously intended to placate the United States and win this country's co-operation with the league.

The most notable thing about it is the arrangement whereby the western hemisphere, already under the protection of the Monroe Doctrine, is made a separate region for defensive purposes, and the rest of the world is divided up into three other regions, Europe, Asia and Africa, each to be independent and self-defensive, under the general supervision of the League of Nations.

This would make, for all practical purposes, four defensive leagues of nations instead of one. In no region would any nation be expected to go to the aid of a nation in another region. The United States would continue its responsibility for defending other American republics against foreign aggression, and other nations of this hemisphere would assume a similar responsibility, thus broadening the operation of the Monroe Doctrine as many Pan-American leaders have urged. Neither the United States nor any other part of North or South America would be obliged to go to the aid of Europe. That distressed continent would defend any part of itself against any other part, or against aggression from Asia or elsewhere.

This is a very big and complex proposal, on which it would be rash to express any hasty opinion. It does seem, however, at first glance, to have possibilities in it. If impractical itself, it may lead to some development by which a complete organization of world powers may be effected, for rational defense and disarmament, with the United States participating in a role worthy of its power and traditions.

NO LOAN FOR RUSSIA

The Soviet representatives at The Hague are said now to realize that their hopes for a foreign loan are vain. But they need not act so surprised and disappointed about it. How could intelligent men expect anything else, in view of their government's position?

Money or credit represent property, or the use and enjoyment of property. Therefore anyone who obtains money or credit is expected as a matter of course to satisfy the lender that he will pay for the use of the money in question and return it in due season. If the borrower will not satisfy the lender, in the usual way, the lender naturally will keep his money.

The Soviet government so far has refused to acknowledge the property rights that foreigners held in Russia before the revolution and refused to acknowledge responsibility for previous loans obtained from foreign sources. The Soviet government also has not given assurance that foreign property rights will be respected in Russia hereafter. Thus there is no sound security offered for loans and no adequate cause for faith in Russian promises. Credit depends on both moral and material considerations, and both are lacking in this case.

Russia needs money, and it would help along international prosperity if other nations could lend Russia the money she needs for economic revival. But the Russians themselves make the loans impossible.

ROSES AND RAILROADS

The American railroad right of way, with its miles of cinder-strewn track, stones, grass and scrub bushes—very nearly the last word in ugliness—is in a fair way to undergo marvelous transformation.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Co., is reported to have started something which, if taken up by other roads, will mean the ultimate beautification of railroad track landscapes. The New England road found, after investigation, that climbing roses form one of the best preventives of erosion. Their roots and trailing vines behave in precisely the right way to keep earth and rocks from slipping down over the rails during heavy summer showers. Therefore the company has ramblers planted all along its route from New York through Connecticut.

In the rose season the railroad embankments were a joy to passengers, with their festoons of pink and red blossoms.

Here's a lesson to the practical-minded everywhere, not to scoff at beautiful things for their apparent lack of utility. Almost any day it might be discovered that beauty, particularly in nature, repays all attention given it, by rendering great practical service.

LABOR WINS IN COURT

It was pointed out, when the United States Court rendered its famous Coronado decision, that if labor unions were liable to be sued for damages done by them in an industrial controversy, they were also eligible to sue. Few labor leaders were so open-minded or far-sighted as to see or admit this, but proof that the principle works both ways comes with unexpected celerity.

In a decision by a common pleas court in Cuyahoga County, O., labor itself derives the benefit from its corporate responsibility. A local labor union, consisting of stationary firemen employed by breweries, was threatened with a wage reduction in defiance of a wage agreement the union had with the employers. The union brought suit, with the result that the brewers were enjoined by the court against cutting wages during the term of the agreement.

There was a somewhat similar case last spring in New York City, where the court, on the suit of garment workers, enjoined the garment manufacturers from conspiring to violate an agreement with the union. But in the present case the court goes farther, actually forbidding the individual manufacturers to reduce the pay of the union workers. The explanation of the court is worth reading by every citizen:

"As long as such a contract (entered into in the best of faith by both parties) continues in force, it ought to be the duty of a court of equity to enjoin any conspiracy on the part of either side to breach it, and the aid of the courts ought to be extended as freely to the employees as to the employers.

"If a court of equity cannot enjoin a breach of such a contract, then the system of collective bargaining may as well be abandoned, and such advantages as come to both employer and employee by reason of such a system will be lost.

"It is elementary, and yet sometimes needs emphasis, that the door of a court of equity is open to employer and employee alike. It is no respecter of persons. It is keen to protect the rights of all. Heretofore the employer alone has prayed the protection of a court of equity against threatened irreparable illegal acts of the employees. But mutuality of object compels a mutuality of remedy.

"It is a hopeful sign when labor does appeal to the courts."

Highway Across Continent

Long Beach Press

There is promising prospect that the proposed transcontinental trunk highway from Jacksonville, Fla., to San Diego, with its connections to border points, will be established and constructed as a great national military road. It is regarded as "an essential element in the plans being formulated by the war department for national defense and should be completed without delay, according to the best federal standards for road construction."

This great highway would be constructed so substantially as to be capable of carrying heavy traffic, and especially designed for military use in national emergency, but open to general traffic in times of peace and security. This Old Spanish Trail system embraces all the border defenses from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Military, naval, air and cavalry bases along the southern fringe of the country would be connected up by this great highway. Plans have progressed so far as to indicate definite, constructive action on the part of the national government. The states through which the route extends are co-operating, and the success of the great enterprise is assured.

Los Angeles county and all Southern California would benefit directly from the establishment of this important trunk roadway across the continent. It undoubtedly would be extended up the coast from San Diego to connect with coast defenses in this country.

There probably would be a direct line through from Yuma to Los Angeles to accommodate travel not desiring to go to San Diego. The whole project is of big importance to California and the Southwest.

Compulsory Arbitration

Sacramento Bee

President Harding has submitted to the bituminous and anthracite mine owners and miners a proposal that the miners return to work at the wage scale in existence when work was suspended on April first, and continue on that scale until August 10th; meantime an arbitration board will be appointed to inaugurate a new wage scale.

The board, as outlined by the President, would consist of three members appointed by the United Mine Workers of America, three by the operators, and five representatives of the general public to be named by the President.

This is but going from broken reed to broken reed in an effort to solve a vexed problem.

In the case of the men now striking on the railroads, an arbitration board investigated the subject of wages and hours, etc., for many moons.

On that board were three representatives of the workers, three of the railroads and three appointed by the government.

By a vote of 6 to 3 the present scale of wages for certain workers upon the railroads was fixed.

The board had no authority to enforce its decrees. The workers refused to accept them.

And the menace of a great strike now stares the nation in the face.

The board of arbitration suggested by the President to solve the mine troubles will be also without power to enforce its findings.

And if the President's idea is adopted, the probability is that one side or the other will not abide by the decision when it is finally rendered.

Compulsory arbitration is the only reliable remedy for the industrial ills we have.

Forests Are Reservoirs

San Francisco Chronicle

"The tree is the mother of the fountain," says an Arabian proverb. Every country which has permitted the extirpation of its natural forest cover knows to its cost the truth of that saying.

The statement has been made that the cutting of the great forests that once covered a large part of the Ohio river region, with no adequate replanting of trees, is already showing results in growing aridity in states like Indiana and Illinois.

Just how far the facts back up this statement we do not know, but the condition represented is one reasonably to be expected. It is significant that the secretary of agriculture is pressing a program for greater protection against fire in existing forests and extensive planting of timber trees.

The result of deforestation, which deprives the land of natural cover and root systems to hold back rain-given moisture, is a progressive draining of the soil. There are other results no less serious.

Italy's present agricultural poverty is directly due to the cutting of the trees on her mountains. The rainfall is shed immediately from the hills in floods, which have washed away the soil and destroyed great areas of fertile lowlands, either by covering with rock debris or transforming them into swamps. Greece suffers in the same way.

In countries which, like California, depend on irrigation the mountain forests have an immense reservoir value. Protection of our woodlands is here a matter of great economic interest.

Clean Pictures On the Way

Visalia Delta

Several motion picture producers, according to recent news items, are giving Will Hays a little competition in his work of cleaning up the movies. Their motto is so simple that it should not be difficult to keep in mind. It is:

"Make clean pictures."

Both the appointment of Mr. Hays and the self-imposed plans of picture-makers seems to indicate that the much-discussed improvement in this form of entertainment is really close at hand. The public, apparently, has made clear its wish to see clean movies, as well as movies with a little originality, acting and artistic development.

Bonds Still Going Up

Visalia Delta

The war bonds are all above par now, brought there by lower interest rates, lower dividends on stocks, sounder financial conditions in this country and a growing appreciation of the value of government securities.

And they will not stop where they are. Financial authorities say that improving business conditions will enhance their value.

Those who have held on to their war bonds through thick and thin are now justified. Those who bought the bonds in large quantities from foolish or unfortunate owners a year or two ago have reaped a rare profit. Those who keep the bonds they now possess for the next few years are pretty sure to make a liberal profit over and above this interest in increased market value.

Vacationing is Great Sport

Worth While Verse

THE SONG OF EMPEDOCLES

And you, ye stars,
Who slowly begin to marshal,
As of old, in the fields of heaven,
Your distant, melancholy lines!
Have you, too, survived yourselves?
Are you, too, what I fear to become?
You, too, once lived:
You, too, moved joyfully
Among august companions,
In an older world, peopled by Gods,
In a mightier order,
The radiant, rejoicing, intelligent Sons of Heaven.
But now, ye kindle
Your lonely, cold-shining lights,
Unwilling lingerers
In the heavenly wilderness.
For a younger, ignoble world;
And renew, by necessity,
Night, after night, your courses,
In echoing, unlearned silence,
Above a race you know not—
Uncaring and undelighted,
Without friend and without home;
Weary like us, though not Weary with our weariness.

—By Matthew Arnold.

Tom Sims Says

The best time to have a fight with your wife is on pay day. Corn-on-the-cob is back, according to dry cleaners. A man with two cork legs could do some of these new dance steps. Sometimes it looks like beer and light wines are near; but distance on water is deceiving.

Be careful where you put your confidence and you won't lose it. When the boss gets back from his vacation he finds everyone rested. In Kansas, lightning struck a phone exchange. Bet it was after the girl called "Information." Two can live cheaper than one, but not as fast. Health hint: If you have a weak heart don't read the new tariff. Wouldn't it be great if the consumers could work at it only eight hours a day? There is always a bright side. If the trains stop, vacationists can't send post cards back.

Time to Smile

SAFETY FIRST

Despite repeated warnings from his father, little Bobby persisted in driving nails into blocks and boards. One morning Dad heard the familiar pounding and looking out he saw Bobby hammering away, his little sister, Mary, sitting beside him, apparently looking on.

"Haven't I told you, Bobby, that you will smash your fingers if you drive nails?" the father asked.

"Yes, I know, Dad," the boy replied, "but Mary's holding the nail."

A NATIONAL WEAKNESS

"You won't admit that your ancestors were monkeys?" asked the talkative traveler.

"I'll admit anything," replied the irascible old gentleman, "to keep from getting into an argument. I hate arguments."

"I'm just like you. By the way, 'Babe' Ruth never will regain his batting prestige."

"You are mistaken, sir. I predict that within the next thirty days—"

An hour later when the conductor glanced into the smoking compartment to see who was creating such a disturbance they were still hard at it.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FATHERLY ADVICE

"I am grieved to hear, my boy," said father, "that you have been telling falsehoods. Always tell the truth, even if it should bring trouble upon you. Will you promise to do that?"

"Yes, father," replied the boy.

"All right. Now go and see who is thumping and banging at the door. If it's the landlord, tell him I'm out."

SLIGHTLY COMINGLED

One portion of the dinner party were discussing katyids and the other portion suddenly began remarking about the village choir that was in active and violent rehearsal just across the street.

The conversation became miscellaneous, and one of the guests, thinking the discussion was still regarding katyids instead of the choir, remarked:

"And doesn't it beat all that they make that loud noise by merely rubbing their knee together!"

From Out the Past

Like a note from other ages,
Like a fragment from life's pages
Is this note before me now.
Telling of a boon expected,
Telling, too, of one neglected,
Causing wonder, when and how.

Now I wonder who conceived it,
When it was that I received it—Hopes and fears were in it blent.
What is this that comes to greet me,
Comes from out the past to meet me?
'Tis the bill my tailor sent.

Elmer Heidt—"I don't know where to go on my vacation."

"Yes, business is fine."

"Those are pretty pictures on the wall," and immediately Elmer Heidt navigated from the city editor's desk in The Register office, where he had come on business, to the theater editor's corner and soon was lost in dreamy reverie.

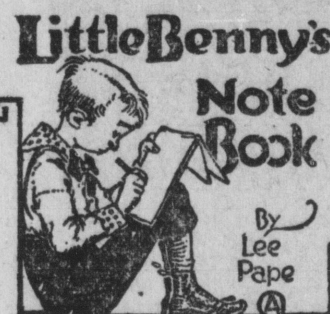

It's hard to tell all of what passed through Elmer's fertile brain during the time he was gazing at the movie queens but this is what he said, "They are pretty pictures, but what's in a picture?"

D. Edson Smith, local disciple of open air and uncooked foods—"Why a cold? I noticed an editorial in The Register Thursday night which made an appeal for public information as to a sure cure for colds. I know the answer. I have not had a cold in seventy years. No one need have a cold, if he will do as I have done. The cure is simple, beneficial. Stop eating. Breathe fresh air. Clean the machine and let it rest. These three things will cure colds. I have not had glass in my bedroom windows for twenty-five years. Bedrooms should be well ventilated. Fastening and cleansing of the body inside and out, will cure any ailment."

"To prevent colds, live on uncooked foods. If we live on fruits and nuts, as nature intended, we would never be sick."

Smith is 83 years of age, yet he is as supple as a boy of twelve years. He demonstrated this fact to The Register news force. He did what many boys of twelve years cannot do. With both feet planted squarely on the floor, he assumed a squatting position and stooped over and touched his head to the floor without touching his hands to the floor.

Smith used to take a three or four mile walk every morning before breakfast. Recently he has had to discontinue this practice because he has had to assume most of the household duties, due to the feebleness of Mrs. Smith.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Mrs. Frog Learned a Lesson

By Olive Roberts Barton

Nancy and Nick overheard Mrs. Robin talking to Mrs. Frog down by the pond.

Mrs. Robin was saying: "Oh, don't be disappointed about your children, Mrs. Frog. Mine were born without a single feather."

But I want to Dr. Shuffles and he gave me some drops and in three weeks my children were beautiful."

"Oh," said Mrs. Frog eagerly, "do you think it would do my pollywogs any good, Mrs. Robin? Really, I'm almost ashamed of them. They haven't a leg to stand on and, mind you, they're actually got tails like lizards."

"Well," said Mrs. Robin. "I have half a bottle left and you're welcome to it, I'm sure."

The twins slipped away and told the fairy doctor all about it.

"H'm," said that gentleman thoughtfully. "It's bad business for people to take other folks' medicine! I'll have to give her a little lesson."

Next day Dr. Shuffles presented himself at Mrs. Frog's front door and asked about the pollywog children.

"They're fine, thank you," said Mrs. Frog, "only their legs don't grow very fast."

"That's all right," said Dr. Shuffles. "Well, well! I'll have to give them some leg medicine. I gave Mrs. Robin's children some feather medicine, and you ought to see 'em now!"

"Feather medicine!" shrieked Mrs. Frog. "Was that feather medicine she gave me? Goodness! They'll have feathers all over them! Oh, doctor, what shall I do?"

Then Dr. Shuffles kindly, but firmly, gave her a piece of his mind. He told her what not to do thereafter. And that was not to borrow medicine from a neighbor.

Also he said to let her pollywogs alone and they'd grow all the legs they needed and lose their tails as well.

Which they did.
